Description of the Project

In recent times, cyberspace has opened numerous new opportunities for digital art, modern expression and aesthetics unique to each individual. It allows us to communicate ourselves in a distinctive way through our own art. Therefore, communicating, expressing and sharing on social media platforms often leads to intellectual conversations and encourages the existence of online communities. The interactivity then, inspires social collaborations in the world of artistic practice.

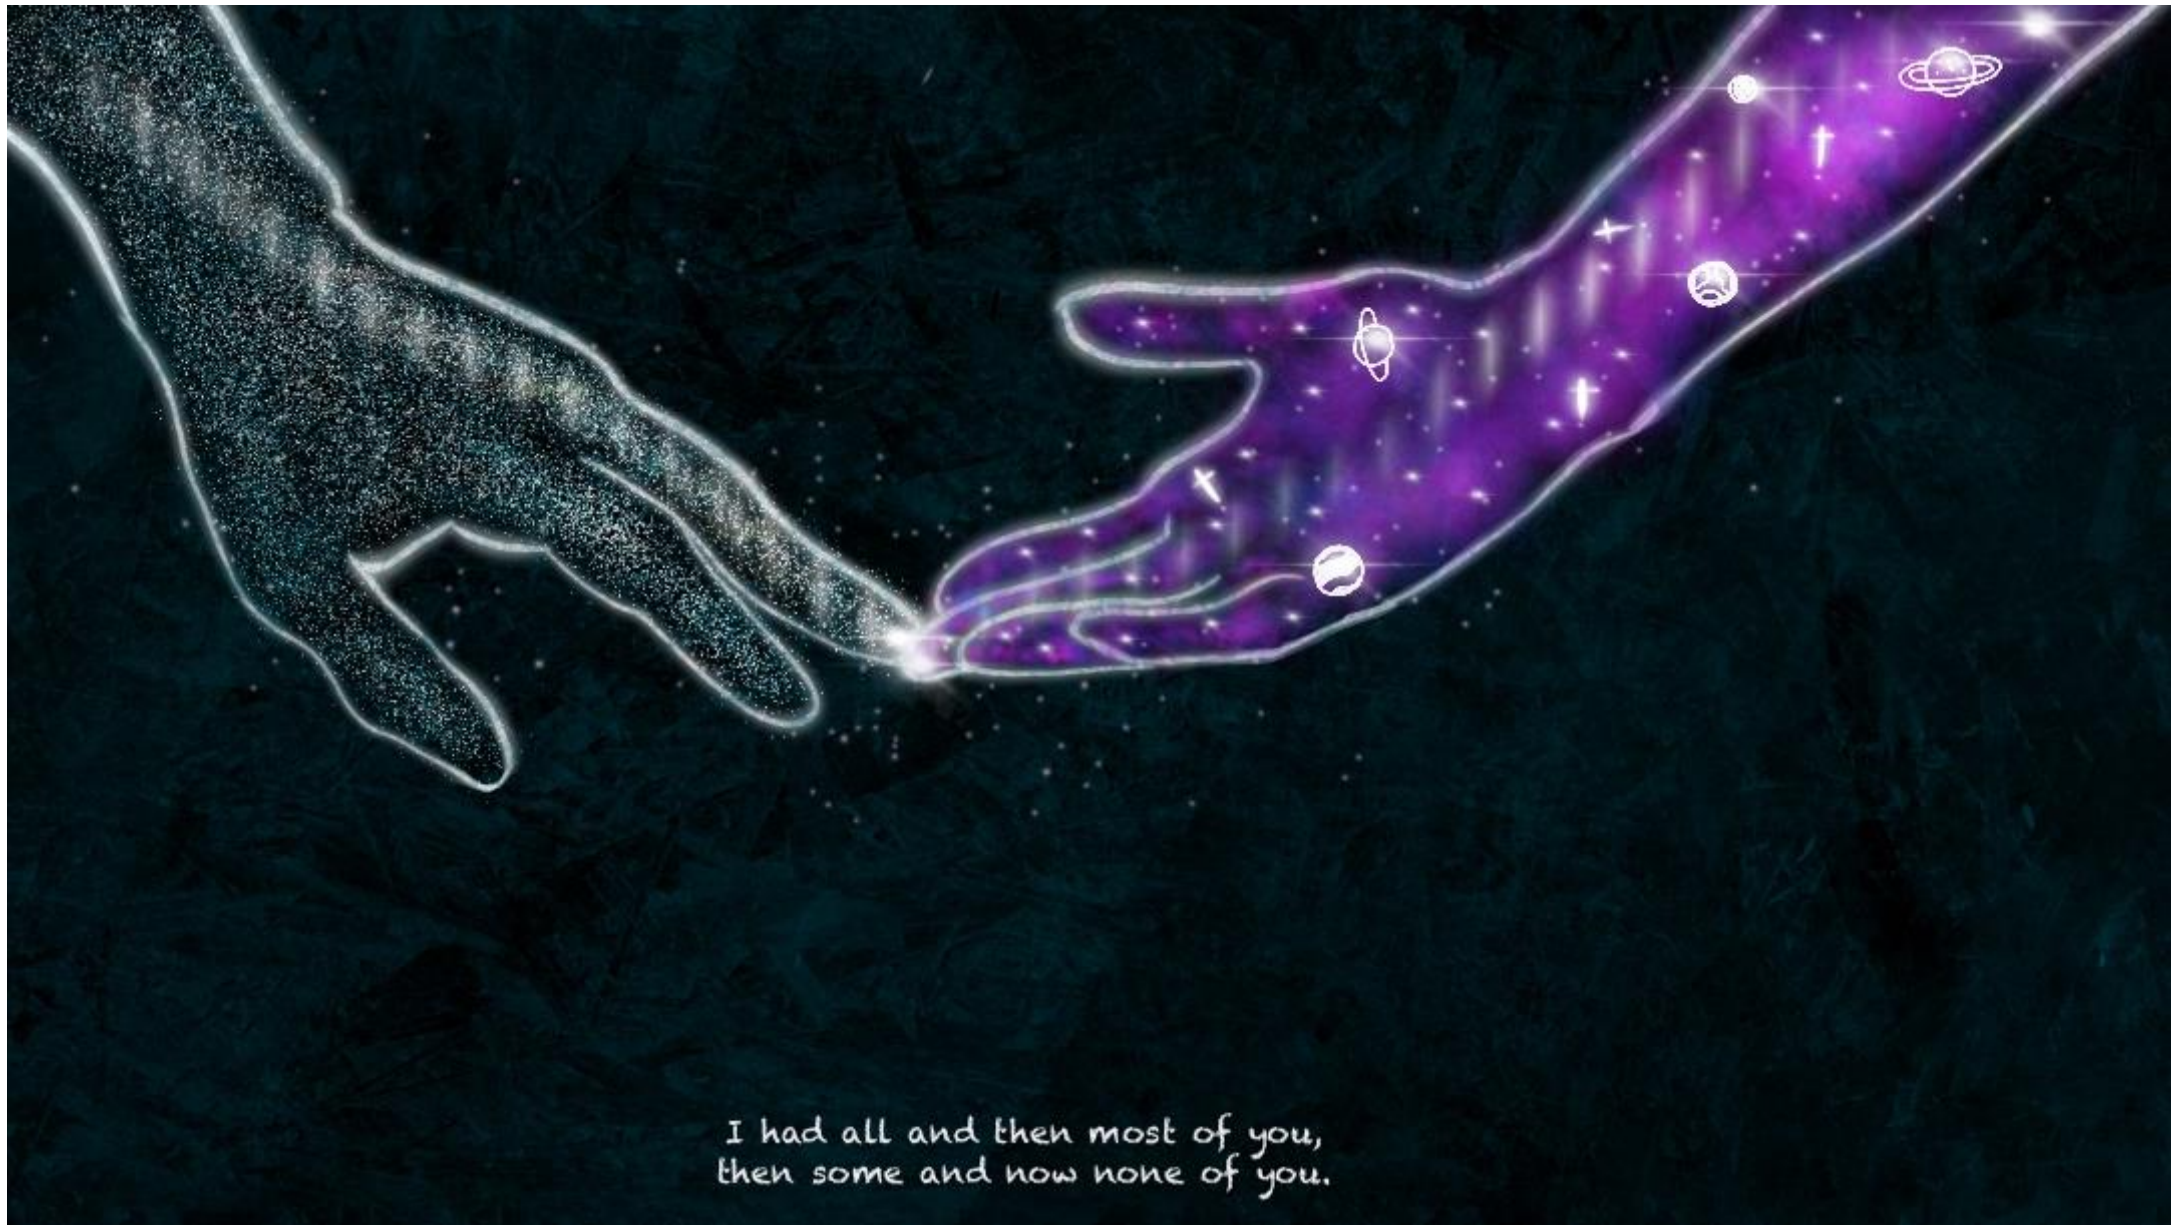

The aim of this project is to help people feel included and understood. We should have a sense of community and inclusion. Therefore, for this project I collaborated with my online community on Instagram. Each illustration is depicted by a song lyrics. The song lyrics were each chosen by a member of the online community as a verse which was meaningful to them. The songs featured are:

- Break My Heart Again by Finneas
- The Night We Met by Lord Huron
- Norman Fucking Rockwell by Lana Del Rey
- K. by Cigarettes After Sex
- Video Games by Lana Del Rey

Kissed me half a decade later;
That same perfume,
Those same
sad eyes.

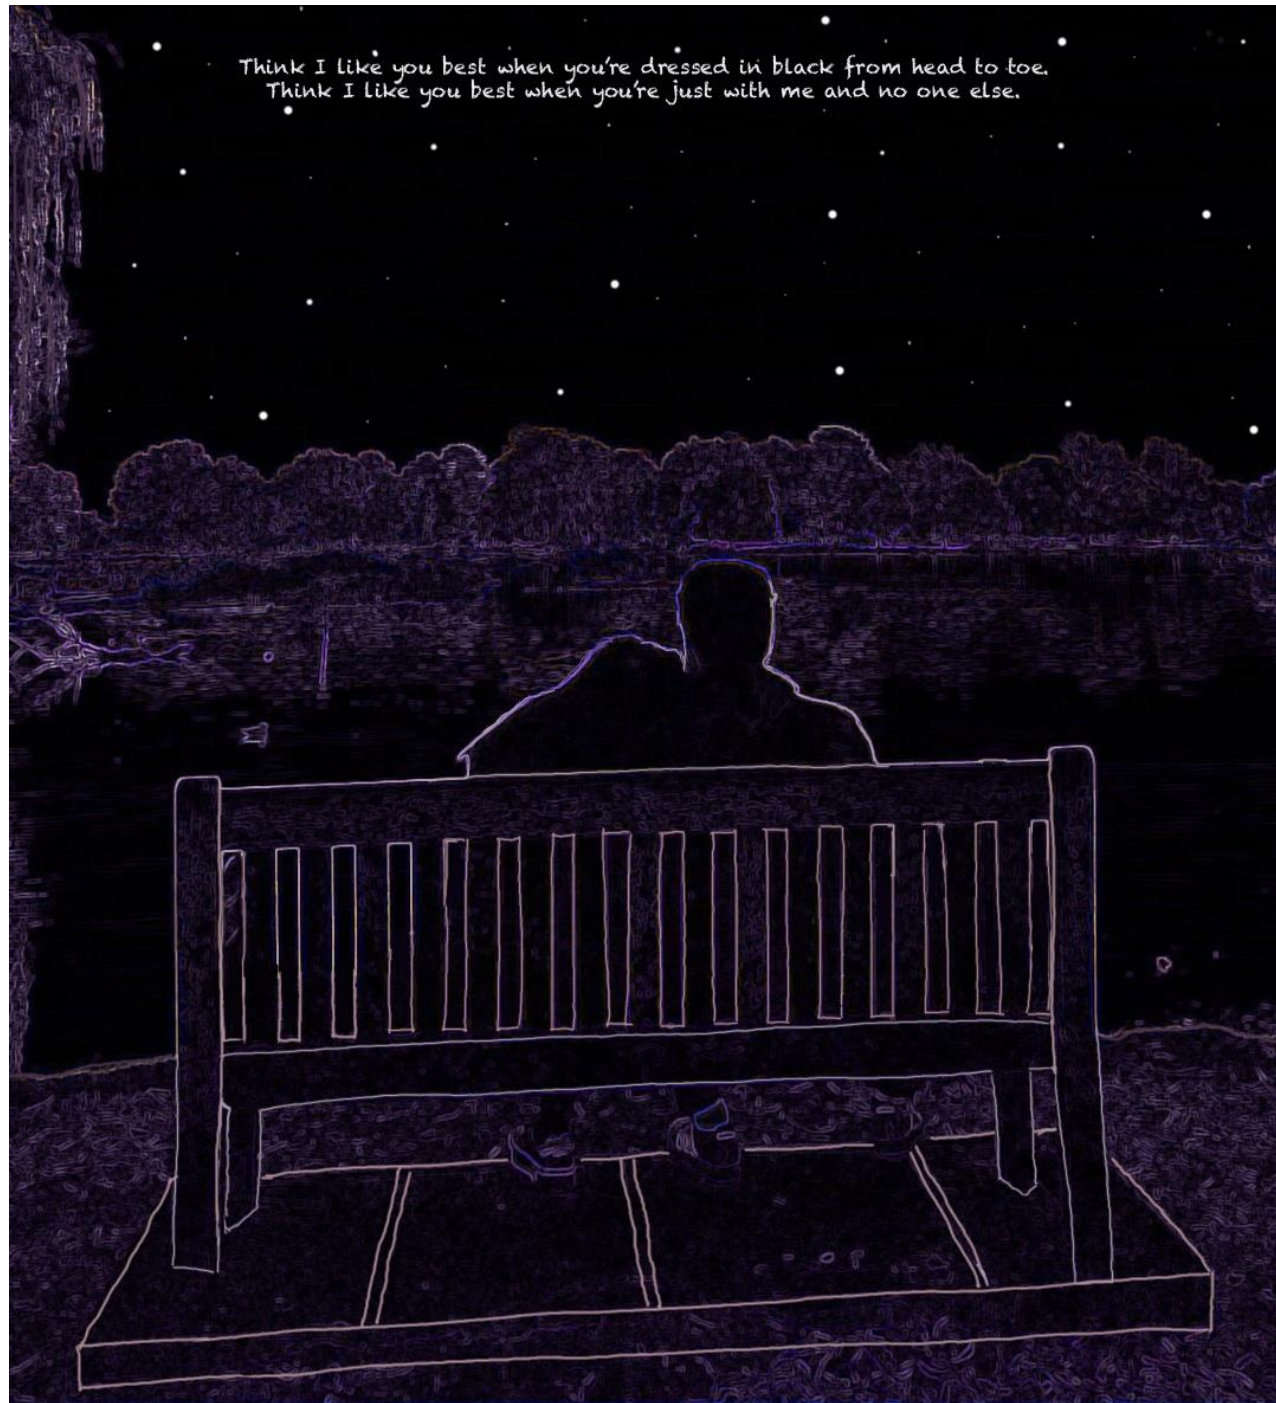

I had all and then most of you,
then some and now none of you.

Cause you're just a man; it's just what you do.
Your head in your hands; as you colour me blue.

Think I like you best when you're dressed in black from head to toe.
Think I like you best when you're just with me and no one else.

I tell you all the time,
heaven is a place on earth with you.
